When thou reapest the harvest of thy land, thou shalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field; neither shalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest. Thou shalt not glean thy vineyard, neither shalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard, but thou shalt leave them for the poor and the stranger: for I am the Lord thy God. Note how the poor and the stranger are remembered here, but the gifts mentioned are not put into their hands - these they must gather themselves (Self-help). 3. Thou shalt not steal, neither deal falsely, nor lie to another. Honesty, faithfulness, and truthfulness are three virtues of great importance in dealing with our fellow-men. 4. Thou shalt not swear falsely by My Name, nor shalt thou profane the name of thy God; I am the Lord. Let thy yes be yes and thy no be no. Neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God by mentioning it too often, by calling on Him as a witness in an unrighteous matter or trivial affair. 5. Thou shalt not rob thy neighbor nor deceive him; the wages of the hired shall not abide with thee over night. Fair and Square should be our motto in dealing with our neighbor. What a noble spirit of justice is contained in the sentence, which tells us not to keep the wages of a laborer over night!
